

We offer a range of exceptional Surplus Inventory solutions.

Purchase

We purchase excess and obsolete materials, helping our clients effectively reduce or eliminate inventory management and write-down costs. We have long-term agreements with many of the world's largest OEMs and CMs/EMS Providers as a first-choice inventory buyer. We are a dependable and flexible business partner, and we have the resources to move quickly on purchases of any size, anywhere in the world.

Individual Line Purchases. SemiSource offers line-item bids on select inventories of single and limited items in large counts.

Entire Lot Purchases. SemiSource has the resources and expertise to purchase inventories of any size enabling clients to quickly eliminate assets and carrying costs as needed.

Consignment

Consignment enables our clients to realize greater value on their excess and obsolete material over a longer period of time. Not only do we get you a better price, we deliver better service too, through instant access and real-time reports on your product's status online through a secure section of our web site, updated daily. We offer a totally transparent program with impeccable inventory control, all protected with state of the art technology.

Plus:

- No return fee
- No charge to inventory product
- Percentage split of all sales
- Payments made on a quarterly basis
- Fully ESD controlled 38,000 square foot warehouse
- Limited personnel access for highest quality standards
- 50 years shipping/receiving expertise

Placement

For clients who prefer to maintain control and possession of inventory, Semi Source can match your obsolete or surplus materials to buyers directly. We can import your bill of material into our database system and provide a list of matches to available offers.

Over 25 years, we've built extensive relationships with end users so we can match your product to the end customer who needs it, not another distributor. We aggressively market your product to obtain a higher profile in the market. The end result: a higher return for you while taking inventory off your books.
